BOTH PROS AND ANTIS CLAIM VICTORY

The prohibition campaign in Texas is closing today amid a grand final rush on both sides. The result will probably be close, although the chairman of the opposing sides both claim the victory.

Last night Jake Wolters, state chairman of the antis, came out with an estimate of 74,000 majority for the wets, and also gave a formidable array of figures to back up his assertion.

Chairman Ball of the prohibitionists says:

"Based upon advices from all sections of the state, from reports received from very many sources, and my own contact with many people and visits to various sections, I have, until the last week, placed the prohibition majority at 35,000 upon a conservative estimate with indications justifying the hope of a majority of 50,000. The rapid changes to our side and the prospect of getting out a full prohibition vote now indicate that the amendment will carry by from 60,000 to 65,000 votes."

OKLAHOMAN WILL PRINT PONTOTOC VIEWS

Two or three days ago the Oklahoman asked its local correspondent, Prof. E. E. Matthews, for some photos showing the crop conditions of Pontotoc county. He communicated with L. Rosenfield and that booster got busy at once, having N. B. Stall to make photos of the Johnson orchard and vineyard, Armstrong & Bills' potato farm and E. C. Hunter's corn field. These were forwarded to the paper together with a description of conditions as they exist in Pontotoc county. They will probably appear in Sunday's paper.

Dr. Ligon made a trip to Atoka and Coalgate this morning. He says the rain has relieved him from the necessity of carrying water in a jug for the relief of suffering fish under his care.

RECIPROCITY WILL PASS TOMORROW

Washington, July 20.—Senator Bailey of Texas, speaking against the Canadian reciprocity bill in the senate today, said he recognized that the agreement was approved by a majority of the people of the country and that its passage in the senate was certain.

He expressed fear that in giving trade concessions to Canada, the United States would become involved in trade disputes with other countries.

Senator La Follette tomorrow will explain in detail his amendments, which propose a sweeping revision of the woolen and cotton tariffs. His address will be the chief one against the reciprocity bill in the closing hours of debate.

Today Senator Bailey held the floor against the bill for three hours, following a speech in its favor by Senator Jones of Washington. Senator Bailey's speech was almost wholly an attack on the bill for its alleged injustices to the farming interests. He assured his fellow-democrats that he believed they would have difficulty in convincing farm voters that they had been treated fairly.

The Texas senator denied the statements frequently made that the bill should be supported by democrats because it is a "step in the right direction."

"If pursued to a logical conclusion" he said, "it leads to a time and a policy where the American farmer will be stripped of all advantages and left to the mercy of the beneficiaries of all tariff legislation."

Senator Smith of South Carolina urged the adoption of the bill because of its general benefits to the country and because it marks a step toward the lowering of all tariff duties.

Senator Heyburn of Idaho spoke in behalf of the lumber interests, which he said, would suffer through the removal of the lumber duty.

Miss Bertha Ruble, head of the department of domestic science in the normal, will leave tomorrow for Caney, Kansas.

THE COAL OIL CAN ONCE MORE

Wednesday W. S. Luther had his hands severely burned in an oil blaze and had a close call from a serious accident. In kindling a fire he poured oil in one end of the stove while some fire was in the other end. The oil suddenly flashed up with the result above mentioned. While severe the burns are not serious, but Mr. Luther considers that he had a lucky escape.

A Woman Joint Smasher Appointed. Oklahoma City, July 21.—Mrs. Adie Caldwell of Shawnee, who was commissioned as a deputy enforcement officer Thursday, is the first woman to be appointed to that position, and the first legalized woman "saloon smasher" in Oklahoma. Under authority of the commission issued to her, she has the right to demolish liquor and bar fixtures and to arrest any and all violators of the law.

The commission is one which would have delighted the heart of the late Carrie Nation, although Mrs. Caldwell is not in any sense a follower of Mrs. Nation or disposed to employ her methods. She is an elderly woman of great determination and much good common sense, who has done a good work in Shawnee as manager of the Provident Association there.

Her especial purpose in securing this commission is to help in closing up the rooming houses at Shawnee, in which many boys and girls are said to be led astray, and concerning which much complaint has been made to the officers at Shawnee. It is claimed that intoxicating liquors are kept at practically all of these places and that a special enforcement officer can find much work to do in that connection.

Mrs. Caldwell is doing this work without compensation, further than that which she already received, and is going into it primarily for the purpose of carrying out more fully the work which she is already engaged.

LONG DROUTH IS BROKEN

OVER FIVE INCHES OF RAIN FALLS WITH TWENTY-FOUR HOURS.

The long drouth is broken at last. The heaviest rain fell last night that has been seen in this section in more than a year, the gauge registering 4.16 inches. The precipitation of the night before was .33, and yesterday afternoon .91, or a total of 5.4 inches in about twenty-four hours.

The rain last night began about 1 o'clock, and until almost daylight continued with a steady downpour. Every stream was filled and the city reservoir, which has been almost dry for six months past, was filled almost to the top, the water this morning standing within two feet of the top of the dam.

There is no way of estimating the value of the rain. In the first place, the city is relieved from a very serious problem. Not only is the present need supplied, but it insures an ample supply of water for the gins in the fall.

While local showers in most parts of the county had kept the cotton crop from suffering very much, the rain of last night insures a bumper crop, if no pest gets a start, and it also insures a heavy yield of forage crops which have been extensively planted by the farmers since it became apparent that the corn would be a failure.

From reports received this morning from other parts of the state, it will be seen that the rain was what might be called general.

TWO ARRESTS FOR HORSE THEFT

Last night Deputy Cal Bolin came in from Coalgate with John and Treance Popejoy, wanted for the theft of horses from Gregg & Chapman and Tom Bennett about three weeks ago. Since the theft Gregg and Chapman have followed the trail from here all through several counties east of this section, finally overtaking them at Coalgate. At the same time an officer from Seminole county was on their trail and he arrested them a few minutes before Sheriff Murphy ran across them. However, he turned them over to the Pontotoc county officers, and they are now in jail.

M. B. Donaghey Will Move to Allen.

M. B. Donaghey will move to Allen the first of next week. As most of his farms are in the vicinity of Allen and his heavy interests in the new town demand his constant attention, he decided that the best thing he could do would be to move there. Mr. Donaghey has lived at Ada for eight years and during that time has been identified with every movement looking to the advancement of the town. His departure will be regretted, but the best wishes of the community will go with him.

SUMMER TERM OF NORMAL CLOSED

The six weeks summer term of the normal closed today after a most successful session. The final examinations for certificates were taken by about eighty students and were concluded during the day.

The enrollment of the summer term reached a total of 312, an unusually large number, and was composed principally of experienced teachers, most of whom were taking work to be credited on a graduate course. Almost every county in the eastern two-thirds of the state was represented in the student body, and these teachers will become first-class boosters for the Ada school.

House of Lords Passes Veto Bill.

London, July 21.—The house of lords passed the third reading of the parliament bill, otherwise known as the veto bill, without division Thursday after only three hours' debate. The revolt of the insurgent peers failed to materialize. One, Baron Stanmore, raised his voice to demand a vote, but found no support.

Lord Morley for the government, and Lord Lansdowne, leader of the opposition repeated some familiar arguments for and against the measure. Lord Halsbury, leader of the extremists, threatened a fight if the house of commons rejected the amendments.

The future of the measure may be predicted Thursday night with reasonable certainty. Premier Asquith in the commons on Monday will move the rejection of the lord's amendments en bloc. This done, the prime minister will announce that if the lords persist there will be no course open for him but to offer the king certain advice which will insure the passage of the bill. It would not be in accordance with constitutional etiquette to specify the nature of the advice, but everyone will understand that this means the creation of liberal peers.

The house of lords will get it on Wednesday or Thursday and Lord Lansdowne will move the acceptance of the bill, predicting its repeal as soon as the unionists return to office. If the extremists rally around Halsbury and vote for the rejection of the bill, Lord Lansdowne is expected to summon his followers to vote for it. It is not anticipated that Halsbury will find more than fifty, perhaps not more than a score, to make the last stand, and the greatest constitutional revolution in almost a century will be accomplished.

THREATENS TO RAISE PONTOTOC VALUES

In spite of the fact that the taxable values of Pontotoc county were placed higher than last year, the state equalization board is considering the question of raising them forty per cent. Just where the board got the impression that Pontotoc county is inhabited by a tribe of tax dodgers, is not known.

However, a vigorous fight is to be made on this proposed increase by Commissioner Richardson and County Attorney Wimbish, who left for Oklahoma City this afternoon. The best wishes of the community go with them, for such an increase would work a great hardship on the tax payers of the county, especially those of Ada, where the valuations were placed at an unusually high figure.

The news from Pate Beauchamp of Roff continues to be of an encouraging nature. His condition this afternoon is said to be better and hope of his ultimate recovery is now much stronger.

ENGINEERS UNCOVER THE BATTLESHIP MAINE

Havana, July 20.—All the water in the cofferdam surrounding the Maine has been removed, showing the wreck imbedded in the mud from an estimated depth of thirty-seven feet around the after-part of the vessel, to an indeterminate depth. That portion of the ship immediately forward of the central superstructure, which was demolished, has disappeared, except for some jagged pieces of rusted steel protruding above the slime.

The engineers will begin Friday the work of drawing out the soft mud by suction. Simultaneously they will begin the work of dissecting the great confused masses of metal. The bow section, represented by the plates and beams of the bottom of the ship, now stands upwards of 20 feet high. All portions of this section have been fully identified, including the remains of water tanks originally located on the lower deck, and apparently not affected by the explosion. All these parts have been photographed for future examination and to confirm the identification prior to the dissection of the wreckage.

A curious feature resulting from the total removal of the water is that the amidship main deck and central superstructure, remaining practically level, constitute in effect a great cantilever, sustaining their own weight without any direct under support. All the structural members of the ship beneath this section have been destroyed, and the cavity has been filled with mud.

The aft midship section of the berth deck, on which were the ward room and the officers' state rooms, is fully exposed; but is almost entirely filled with mud, especially on the port side, the removal of which will be slow and difficult.

Hopes are entertained that in this section, may be found the body of Assistant Engineer Merritt, who is believed to have been in his state room at the time of the disaster.

Some fire scorched bones were discovered this afternoon in the vicinity of the overturned conning tower, where the remains of probably four bodies were previously found. It is believed these were members of the crew who at the moment of the explosion were sleeping in hammocks suspended from the ceiling of the forward berth deck, which was blown up and folded back over the central superstructure fifty feet aft of its original position. The remains offer no hope of identification.

In view of the total demolition of the crew berthing space, hope diminishes that any considerable number of remains will be recovered. From present indications three or four months will elapse before the mud surrounding the wreck is removed and all portions of the ship made visible.

ed to purchase an ax, says an Ohio informed that the price was $1.15, he said:

"Why, I can get that same kind of an ax from a mail-order house for ninety cents."

"Very well," said the hardware man; "I will give it to you for the same price, provided you will do the same with me as you will do with it."

"All right," replied the customer, as he handed over a dollar bill, the merchant giving him back ten cents in change.

"Now," said the hardware man, "I want 25 cents more to pay express

 him. "How much did your ax cost you?"

"One dollar and fifteen cents," the man answered.

"Very good. Now give me 5 cents hand over. "Now, how much did your

"One dollar and twenty cents," said the customer.

 the ax, tossed it back on the shelf,
 and told the customer to call for it as he could get it if he had ordered

Oklahoma City Outrage.

Stupidity and brutality united and disgraced each other in the person of J. T. Beatty, clerk of the superior court at Oklahoma City, when he attacked T. J. Stevens, one of the oldest and most experienced newsgath-ers in this state, Wednesday. Stevens, representing the Oklahoma City Evening Times, had been apprised by the outlaw clerk that the Times could not examine the records in the office.
 Stevens, who has been ill for a year, responded that a mandamus would be secured for the paper, whereupon Beatty brutally assaulted and kicked Stevens.

Beatty's record in Oklahoma City justifies the suspicion that his court records deserve special attention. His assault upon a newspaper reporter from the rear shows his manliness is nil. If the court he represents does not take some action in this matter, what can Oklahoma City expect from the press of the state?

Meantime in this life there is nothing quite so painful to one's feelings as to have to meet up with a public official who surmises the public is his servant and acts accordingly.—

LEWIS PROPERTIES IN HANDS OF RECEIVER

St. Louis, Mo., July 20.—The petition of 235 creditors for a blanket re-ceivership of all the property, companies and enterprises of E. C. Lewis was granted in the United States court today by Judges Dyer and Mc-Pherson. The court's decision will take the property from the hands of the organization syndicate which has been in charge of it for nearly three months. St. Louis Union Trust Company is the receiver.

In his opinion, Judge McPherson compared Lewis' schemes to the Miss-sissippi "bubble" and other historical get-rich-quick episodes and declared that if a fraction of the allegations made in the receivership petition were true the Lewis affair constituted one of the most gigantic frauds of the century.

The Lewis corporations are capitalized in excess of $5,000,000. Whether the American Woman's League, an organization with branches throughout the United States and with a membership which is declared to number 70,000, will be included in the receivership, attorneys were disagreed.

NEGRO SENTENCED TO HANG AT OKLAHOMA CITY

Oklahoma City July 21.—Newton Henry, a negro charged with the murder of Charles Lucas, another negro, was found guilty and sentenced to death in the superior court shortly after 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The jury remained out for two hours. Immediately following the verdict Henry was taken to the county jail. The date for his execution was not set.

It is announced that his attorneys will ask for a new trial. Henry was charged with killing Lucas following the refusal of the latter to pay him sixty cents which Henry claimed was due him. The killing took place in Sandtown, a negro settlement north of Packingtown.

The Girl of My Dreams

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I. Harry Swifton is spinning along in his auto, his thoughts dwelling in happy anticipation of a coming visit from his fiancée, Lucy Medders, a Quakeress, who nursed him when he was injured in an auto accident out in the country. His mind taken off of his surroundings by these pleasant thoughts he crashes into another auto containing a German count and a beautiful woman.
 The woman's hat is ruined. Absent-mindedly Harry thrusts the remnants of the hat in his pocket and makes his escape.

CHAPTER II. Carolyn, Harry's sister, arrives to play hostess. Socrates Primer, a distant relative of Lucy's, arrives with a hat intended as a gift to Lucy.
 Harry is trailed to his home by the German count and the lady of the damaged hat.

CHAPTER III. Who, it develops, is Mrs. General Blazes. She is in distraction lest her husband should hear of her escapade. She declares that her milliner told her a duplicate of the ruined hat had been delivered to Harry's house. Responding to her demands for the hat Harry insists that he knows nothing about it.
 Lucy Medders and her father arrive and the Count is secreted in the library and Mrs. Blazes in Harry's bedroom.

CHAPTER IV. Lucy professes curiosity regarding the room in which Mrs. Blazes is hidden and Harry is forced to do some fancy lying.

CHAPTER V. The milliner arrives to trace the duplicate hat. She proves to be Daphne Daffington whom Harry had shown considerable attention to in the past and the situation becomes more complicated. She agrees to make another hat providing Harry will take her to dinner. Lucy and Carolyn call Harry and Daphne is hustled into the room occupied by the Count. The Count and Daphne seem to have carried on a flirtation before and greeted each other warmly.

"Shabbily!" she sniffed. "You only call it shabby to ask me to go to a ball game, and leave me under an awning in a pouring rain—and that's the last I see of you in two whole, long, weary years!"

Harry squirmed.

"I guess that wasn't right, Daphne," he acknowledged.

"You said you were going for a cab," she accused him.

Harry jumped up suddenly.

"I'll go and get you one now," he offered.

Daphne stopped him with a steely

glance, and demanded:

"Where's that hat I sent here?"

Harry stared at her for the moment with utter blankness. Then it slowly filtered through his brain that she was the milliner to whom Mrs. Blazes had telephoned. Daphne misinterpreted his stare for one of admiration and with a remarkable imitation of shyness, she asked:

"Do you think my new gown is becoming, really?"

"It's a beaut," Harry informed her.

"It's a beaut. How do you get it on with a shoe horn?"

"Here you go again!" Daphne said accusingly. "You were always so full of sarcasm that you acted sour.

"But that hat I sent over here."

"You never sent any hat here."

"Yes, I did. A yellow hat, trimmewith red poppies. It was a duplicate of an imported model that I sold to one of my best patrons."

"I've heard of that hat," Harry replied. Then he said, brightly: "Why you're not the renowned Mike

Daphne, the milliner, are you?"

"None other," preened Daphne.

"You see, I have risen to fame and achieved my ambitions, while you have been content to remain in obscurity."

"To my sorrow," Harry replied,

"that is too true, Daphne. But about the hat, I really know nothing of it.

There must be a mistake."

"It came here, all right," Daphne replied. "The party who got it wouldn't give his name. He just gave this number."

"Well, I wish such a hat were here.

The messenger must have taken it to the wrong house. Now, Daphne, I want just such a hat as that, and I'll pay you a good price for it."

Daphne shook her head judicially, and fluttered her hands as though she had been asked to pluck a few stars from the sky.

"I can't make another," she said.

"There aren't any more like the original. I had two models, but they're both gone. One I sold to Mrs.

Blazes—"

"Mrs. Blazes!" Harry interrupted.

"Yes," Daphne said, "Mrs. General

Blazes."

Harry looked at the door of his room, expecting Mrs. Blazes to come forth and enter the discussion. What construction Daphne might put on her presence, concealed, in his house, he feared to imagine. This, coupled with his old flirtation with Daphne, and her sensitively jealous disposition, would be sure to make things unpleasant for him. And, further, if she learned that Lucy was here, and discovered his fondness for Lucy, he knew mighty well what sort of a row she would kick up. He trembled at the thought. Daphne saw his trep-idation.

"Why?" she asked. "What is Mrs.

Blazes to you?"

"Nothing," Harry said, fervently.

"Absolutely nothing."

"Well, you acted queer. You always did act queer," Daphne said.

"Anyway, the other hat was sent here, and I want to get it."

"But it isn't here," Harry assured

her. "If it were, I wouldn't let you have it, because I want one like it myself. Can't you make one for me?"

"I might," Daphne said, assuming the coy air that she fancied to be so irresistible. "Why do you want a hat?
 Is it for your sister?"

"No, Daphne. You see, it's this way. I—I'm to have a guest—two guests. A young lady I'm greatly in-

"Ye Gods! Daphne Daffington!"

terested in—you see, it has been so long since we parted that I am sure you have forgotten me—and so—well, this young lady is to visit my sister, and—well, I've got to get that hat."

"Is the hat for her?" Daphne asked, interestedly.

"No," Harry blundered. "It's for another woman."

Daphne drew herself up with the pose of a tragedy queen.

"Aha!" she said, in denunciatory tones. "So you're up to your old tricks, are you?"

Harry wilted at that, and could make no sufficient reply.

"Well," Daphne decided, "I'll make you the hat—on one condition. I'll get it finished this afternoon, provided that you and I—just our two little selves—shall have one of our old time cozy, comfy dinners tonight."

Harry was aghast. This was too much. The more he tried to get out of his trouble the more new troubles were invented for him.

"Daphne," he said, "I—I simply can't do that."

"Two years ago," Daphne reminded him, "you would have jumped at the chance to have the dinner, and never have bothered about the hat."

"I know, but, Daphne, it is impossible. You see, these guests will be here, and I can't be away when I should be entertaining them."

"They won't miss you," Daphne said, cruelly. "You're not so very entertaining."

"I know it—and I'm at my worst today. So," with a hopeful cadence in his voice, "you get me the hat and we'll have that little dinner some other evening."

"No dinner tonight, no hat today," was Daphne's ultimatum, when from somewhere in the house came the voices of Lucy and Carolyn calling to Harry.

"Great Scott!" he muttered. "This thing's getting worse! They mustn't see you here."

"They?" Daphne asked. "Who are they?"

"One is my sister; the other is—the other girl."

"Oh, goodness, Harry!" Daphne almost wept. "I didn't mean to get you into trouble. Hide me, hide me!

Heavens! If there should be any talk about me—just when my millinery business is doing so nicely. You ought to be ashamed to allow an innocent girl to take such chances as this."

But Harry was hurrying her toward the library door. At first he had unconsciously started her toward the other one, but halted, remembering that Mrs. Blazes was there. He mutely directed her to go into the library, and then said in a hasty whisper:

"Don't pay any attention to the man in there. Just hide yourself in there a few minutes, and I'll get the girls to go back downstairs on some pretext."

As the door closed on Daphne he left the room and so he did not hear from the library the voice of the Count saying:

But don't scratch the poisoned skin.

Use a mild, cooling, healing compound that stops the itch instantly, draws out the poison in the skin and protects it against further trouble.

BE YOUR OWN JUDGE AND TELL US WHO WINS

Mr. Redman, who can be found at the Maddox drug store if any one doubts this statement, informs the News that on the way to town this morning he saw a big bull frog jump into a pond on 12th street, and although he kicked in the most approved style, was drowned in a few minutes. He had forgotten how to swim.

Geo. Kice suddenly awakes and tells us that he ran across some frogs a few days ago that were three years old and had never learned to swim at all.

CATCH 'EM ALIVE GENTLEMEN, I CAN CATCH 'EM ALIVE!

Hawks Jack Moore the King of Trappers.

Jack Moore claims to be the champion skunk catcher of the town. Last night he tried his hand most successfully on the one that has been raiding the hen houses of his neighborhood. He placed four steel traps in the box where said skunk had killed a couple of dozen of chickens for J. T. Higgins the night before, and about 10 o'clock a racket, punctuated and emphasized by a certain heaviness in the air, announced to the neighborhood that he had made a catch. He went out with his gun and shot the animal, then sneaked off home leaving the undertaker's duty to be performed by Mr. Higgins. Jack first said that the skunk had stepped into all four traps, but to the News reporter admitted that it was only two traps into which the thief stepped.

Notice to Water Consumers.

I have this day (July 21st, 1911) sent out notices to all parties who are in arrears for water furnished by the city. No other notice will be issued from the Water Department, and all who fail to settle their bills for water by the first day of August, 1911, will be entirely cut off from the use of water furnished by the city. You can see me, or some one representing me, at the city clerk's office any day between now and the first day of August where you can settle your bills.

Yours respectfully,

W. H. PERKINSON,

A force of workmen are busy today stringing another pair of phone wires on the Holdenville circuit. An additional wire to Stratford was recently put into service, and Manager Thatcher states that another will be run to Vanoss and Center. URGES FARMERS TO PLANT MORE FORAGE CROPS

Oklahoma City, July 21.—Supplements to the monthly bulletin issued by the state department of agriculture to the number of 30,000 are being sent out to the farmers of the state by Secretary Ben Hennessey, who urges the planting of plenty of forage in the way of cane, kaffir corn and milo maize for feed during the winter months.

Secretary Hennessey is of the opinion that a second crop of potatoes still may be secured. There is much dispute, he says, over whether the Early Ohio potato would be suitable for a second crop, but that in his opinion the Bliss Triumph will mature before frosts come provided there is a sufficient quantity of rain. Frost usually does not come until the later part of November or the first of December, he says, and there is an opportunity to raise a good second crop.

Farmers are also urged to plant turnips and considerable space will be taken up in the August publication on this subject.

"There should be a big crop of turnips," said Mr. Hennessey Wednesday night. "They should be planted by August 1, or at any rate not later than the middle of the month. A big yield may be secured in this way, and the crop will be valuable. It will not only make a good winter food for the farmer's table, and be much in demand on account of the scarcity of potatoes, but it will be valuable as feed for stock as well. It may be fed to sheep, hogs and cows in addition to forage, and helps out greatly. There should be no necessity for selling livestock on account of the scarcity of feed."

He differs with the secretary of the state board of agriculture of Missouri in regard to wheat straw as feed for cattle. Secretary Wilson of Missouri in a bulletin urges the farmers to feed straw during the winter, but in the opinion of Secretary Hennessey straw does not contain enough nutriment to make it valuable for this purpose.

JOHN ALLEN GETS FIVE YEAR SENTENCE

The John Allen case went to the jury shortly before noon today and about 3:30 the jury reported a verdict of guilty, assessing the punishment at five years in the penitentiary.

No case was ever fought more stubbornly in the court than this one. Allen was represented by able counsel, and they did all in their power for him, but it was of no avail. County Attorney Wimish in his closing argument made a very strong appeal which undoubtedly carried considerable weight with the jury.

To Ego. Thompson of Jesse, uncle of the girl, considerable credit is due. He not only rescued the girl from her awful surroundings in Kansas, but has given her a home and an opportunity to lead a better life.

The case attracted considerable attention, the court room being crowded at every stage of the trial.

The case against Tom Davis on a charge of assault to kill, is on trial.

Filipinos Want Independence.

Washington, July 21.—"Either give my country its independence or else celebrating the anniversary of the Declaration of Independence!"

The echo of this challenge, made in New York on July 4th by Manuel L. Quezon, resident commissioner of the Philippine islands, has been heard in Washington.

Several members of congress who are in complete sympathy with the movement on foot in the Philippines for the independence of the islands, and which movement is being so ably pushed in this country by the brilliant young Filipino, Quezon, have congratulated the Philippine commissioner and promised to do everything in their power to bring about Philippine independence.

"How," demanded Quezon in his New York speech, "could any one sustain that any country on the face of the earth, no matter how strong, no matter how advanced no matter how altruistic and noble its motive may be, has the right to govern a foreign people without their consent, according to the principles proclaimed in the declaration of Independence?"

"The consent of the governed is the base of all just government, the declaration says. It is, therefore, in utter contradiction of the letter and spirit of the Declaration of Independence to impose by force a government upon a people."

"That the Filipinos are not willingly under your control is a matter of history. In fact they would not accept any foreign rule if they could so help it. They revolted against Spain and actually won their independence. They declared the independence of the Philippines just as you declared the independence of the thirteen colonies. They organized a republican government, which formally refused to accept the sovereignty of the United States, and, supported by all the people of the whole archipelago, offered an armed resistance to the extension of American control over the islands, until the Philippine troops were completely annihilated by the enormous superiority of your army."

"And today whenever a Filipino is asked what does he want from the United States, he always says: 'The freedom of my country.'"

"The islands are a source of your national military weakness," continued Mr. Quezon. "And they are costing you, they have cost you, hundreds of millions of dollars, and their retention has not dropped one single cent in the pockets of the American people who are bearing the burden of this expense."

Plenty of Opportunity.
June is a good month in which to marry, but there are 11 others that will do.—Judge.

PRICE OF FARM LAND DOUBLES IN DECADE

Washington, July 21.—Farm land in the United States has more than doubled in value in the last ten years. The census bureau announced Thursday that the total value of all farm lands, implements and buildings in the United States in 1910 was $35,859,000,000 compared with $17,357,000,000 in 1900. Implements and buildings were valued at $7,275,000,000 in 1910 and $4,306,000,000 in 1900.

The number of farms in 1910 was 6,340,120 as compared with 5,735,372 in 1900 an increase of 11 per cent. The land increased in 1900 from 835,092,000 acres to 873,703,000 in 1910, or 5 per cent but a larger increase 15 per cent, is noted in improved acreage which in 1900 was 414,490,000 acres, and in 1910, 477,424,000 acres.

More conspicuous than the increase in the number and acreage of farms has been the gain in the improved values of farm property. The land in farms rose in value from $13,051,933,000 in 1900 to $28,383,821,000 in 1910 an increase of 118 per cent and in the same period the average acre value of all land in farms rose from $15.60 to $32.50, or 108 per cent.

Farm buildings, which in 1900, were valued at $3,556,614,000 were reported in 1910 as worth $6,294,025,000, an increase of 77 per cent. Farm implements and machinery reported in 1910 as worth $1,261,817,000 and ten years previously as worth $749,778,000 show an increase of 68 per cent.

BOOZE AMENDMENT NOW READY FOR SIGNATURES

Oklahoma City, July 21.—Local attorneys have prepared the new local option law which the people of the state will be asked to vote on, and will be presented to the Oklahoma Local Option association for the consideration and approval of that organization. The proposed law will simply replace the present statewide law and give the counties local option with the township as the unit. Provision is made for the regulation and sale of liquor. Officials of the association believe when the people understand the proposed law they will vote it in.
